Princess Federigo of Utsimo... bound by his golden gem-encrusted trappings.
BY ALICE MOORE.
Written for N. E. A. Review.

It is all very well to be with a golden gown for your maid, but when it comes to having your wedding gown heavy with precious stones, robes get to be somewhat of a burden. All that that to have the baby in robes painting looks to be like those on Jackson, bound by his golden gem-encrusted trappings.

HEALTH—too precious to risk!

The most precious thing in the world—your child's health—is in jeopardy if you are not getting good milk by buying from a member of the Missoula Dairymen's Association.

For Missoula Dairymen, now no effort to secure you the very finest milk. Their herds and equipment are inspected regularly, they have facilities for handling milk in a sanitary way. They give you GOOD MILK, every day of the year.

Milk is low in price too, as low as it can be and still be good. If Missoula Dairymen were willing to accept the quality of their product for health it would not take any expenditure to prevent contamination they must be able to make pure cream—over—but they know that Poor milk is worthless—even dangerous.
